LinkedIn:

[instead of FORESIGHT, try typing in “@foresight: designing a future for health” and it should give you a dropdown menu from which you can select FORESIGHT, so it will be linked to our profile page. LinkedIn can sometimes be finicky about when it will give you the dropdown menu, though, especially when copy/pasting in text]

We’ve all heard of the “gig economy,” as we see more and more people freelancing, taking short-term contract work, and working through apps. You may have even heard of the “sharing economy,” where peer-to-peer connections make it possible for people to buy from (and share with) each other instead of businesses. These are some of the trends that are coming together to create the potential for new economic models that fundamentally disrupt the status quo. This brief video from FORESIGHT explores some of the possibilities to keep an eye on.
